BOTH SIDES FIGHT HARD FOR ICHANG; SCARAB HIT

British Gunboat Seaman Is Wounded By Snipers Of Chinese Army

FIGHT CONTINUES

Szechuen Retreats Only As Ammunition Fails; Wu's Base Yochow

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Hankow, Sept. 13 (8:40 p.m.)—Fighting in the vicinity of Ichang continues and sniping from both sides goes on day and night. Both General Wu Pei-fu and the Szechuen commanders have sent large bodies of troops to converge on Ichang. H. B. M. Gunboat Scarab was hit several times, resulting in the wounding of one of her able seamen. General Wu left Yochow for Shasi on Sunday with the Flotilla and is expected to arrive at Ichang today.

SZECHUENESE RETREATING

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 11.—According to telegrams that reached the Government this morning, General Sung Tah-pei with the 31st Brigade of Northern troops reached Ichang yesterday and found that the Szechuen troops on the Southern bank of the river had retreated owing to shortage of ammunition.

SCARAB IS HIT

Hankow, Sept. 13.—According to a wireless message from Ichang of today's date, word had been received that H. M. S. Scarab had been hit several times, and one bluejacket wounded.

Sniping has been continuous, both day and night, on both sides.

There have been large movements of troops by both belligerents, converging on Ichang. General Wu Pei-fu is expected at Ichang today.

CHANG CHIEN SPEAKS

Peking, September 13.—Mr. Chang Chien, one of China's foremost industrial leaders, who is responsible to a large extent for the building up of China's model industrial town, Nachow, on the Yangtze River, and who has not long ago raised a large sum of money for the purpose of investigating and analysing China's various chemicals, has issued a telegram to the President of the Republic, the Premier, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Dr. Wu Ting-fang, Mr. Tang Shao-yi, General Chen Chiung-ming and Generals Wu Pei-fu, Chao Heng-ti and Hsiao Yao-nan, urging that steps be taken for the unification of China, so that a united front may be presented at the Pacific Conference.

Mr. Chang Chien says that if both the North and the South are sincere in their pretentions that they want to unite the country they should get together and discuss a permanent settlement, especially at the present time when there is such need for unification with the Conference in Washington coming along, and when, in the internal situation, the troops of both the North and the South have justified their reputation as fighting bodies, the Southerners having taken Yochow in the beginning and the city having been recovered by General Wu.

SUBMIT TO PROVINCES

"Would it not be better," he says, "in the interest of both parties to submit their opinions regarding the settlement of the general situation to the various public bodies in the provinces, such as the provincial assemblies, chambers of commerce, and educational associations and others for their impartial judgment. These bodies will then undertake to elect men of recognised character and learning to a national conference to work out a permanent settlement. Let the North which stand for unification not do any such thing as advising the powers not to recognise the Southern delegates; and do not let the South trouble itself about recognition from the powers, because such action at this time would be to advertise the fact that conditions in China were disturbed."

Wisconsin Farmers Will Pay Him $3,000 An Inch If He Brings Rain

Charles M. Hatfield, the California Rainmaker, who for a good many years has been making a good living "making rain," has just been offered $3,000 for every inch of rain he brings to the Wisconsin farmers. This offer has just been made by the Wisconsin Society of Equity. Hatfield's equipment consists of a tank twenty feet high, in which he prepares a secret chemical mixture, which, he says, makes the clouds open.

OPIUM TRADE CONSIDERED BY LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Call On Governments To Furnish Data And Aid In Its Suppression

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 13.—After hearing a report by the Portuguese representative on the abolition of the opium traffic, Committee No. Five of the League adopted a motion by Professor Gilbert Murray of Oxford University—one of South Africa's representatives — inviting the various Governments to furnish the Secretariat General with an annual report on the subject, including information for the suppression if illicit trafficking in opium and other drugs.

The Committee decided to ask the Governments to exempt their nationals employed in the League from payment of income tax, and also decided that delegates participating in sittings of commissions of the League should receive an allowance of seventy gold francs daily.

DEMAND CUT IN COST

Geneva, Sept. 13.—At today's meeting of the League of Nations Assembly representatives of the British Empire were active in preaching economy in the course of discussions on the work of the League.

Sir William Meyer, leader of the Indian delegation, insisted on the reduction of the League's budget for the Secretariat. Sir James Allen, New Zealand, went further, and demanded a reduction of the League's staff.

He also complained of nepotism, declaring that one high official had half a dozen cousins and relations working for him.

Captain Bruce, Australia, while declaring Australia's enthusiasm for and faith in the League, also urged a reduction of the League's expenditure.

Mr. Doherty, Canada, thought the League was scattering its efforts over too many subjects and that it should concentrate on the most important and thus save expenditure. He deprecated converting the League into a sort of charitable institution.

Dr. Wellington Koo, replying to the debate, refuted the criticisms of the Secretariat, declaring that the organisation was still in its infancy and was open to improvements. He defended the per-

PEKING, Sept. 14.—Preparations are now complete for the greatest event in the history of education in China, the dedication of the Peking Union Medical College, which will be opened formally by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on Monday. The dedicatory exercises will begin tomorrow with an inspection of the plant, followed by a reception and tea from 5 to 7 p.m. when the throng of attending educators, medical men and officials will meet Mr. Rockefeller and his party.

Medical history also will be made at the opening of the college as the program printed in full herewith includes papers by many physicians, standing at the top of their separate fields in the profession. These addresses will embody the latest discoveries in medical science and in some cases point the way to future generations of investigators, among whom doubtless will be the graduates of the college. The first of these addresses will be delivered tomorrow morning by Dr. G. E. de Schweinitz on the ocular symptoms of pituitary body disorders. The pituitary body is in the brain and functions in an opposite manner to the supra-renal capsule as it secretes a hormone that dilates the blood vessels whereas adrenalin, the hormone secreted by the supra-renal capsule has enormous astringent powers, so that it once was hailed as the forerunner of a possible bloodless surgical technique.

In the afternoon Dr. Edward H. Hume, dean of Yale Mission Medical School at Changsha will survey the present state of medical education in China. His address is expected to point the way to a higher and more efficient co-ordination on the part of all those having to do with the training of Chinese physicians.

Friday's medical address will be by Dr. Wu Lien-teh, president of the Chinese Medical Association and who is credited with yeoman service for his country in putting down the Manchurian epidemic of pneumonic plague as director and chief medical officer. His topic will bear directly upon his work in that instance and deal generally with plague in the Orient.

In the afternoon, Mr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation will deliver an address on adventures in public health. President Vincent has a world-wide reputation as a speaker and it has been said of him that he can compel an audience to assimilate more facts than almost any other man living. His method, according to one of his admirers, is to get the audience laughing heartily and while their mouths are open to send forth a few solid truths which they perforce must assimilate. President Vincent's address is awaited with great expectancy as his topic offers wide scope.

Other papers will be read during the eight days of the dedication period and in so far as they are of interest to the general public, will be reviewed in THE CHINA PRESS.

'BATHING GIRL' IS WITNESS IN THE ARBUCKLE TRIAL

(Reuter's Service)

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—In the course of preliminary legal proceedings in the Arbuckle case, the District Attorney examined a witness, professionally described as a "motion picture bathing girl," with the object of ascertaining if she had been induced to commit perjury in consequence of her alleged divergent statements to the authorities.

The Attorney suggested there had been undue influence at work. It is stated that one girl witness has mysteriously disappeared from home.

11 STEAMERS IN RIGA WITH FOOD WAIT ON TRAINS

(Reuter's Service)

Riga, Sept. 13.—Eleven steamers with cargoes of corn for the Russian famine-stricken population are lying here but the Russian authorities have only provided 200 trucks and urgent requests to Moscow for additional means of transport have hitherto not been answered.

GRATEFUL FOR U. S. AID

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, September 5.—In his report to the Moscow Soviet, Mr. Kamenef said: "To the calamity which has befallen the Republic of workers and peasants, all Europe and America have responded with helping hand.

"Norway has already sent foodstuffs to the amount of 700,000 kronen; the German Red Cross is despatching medical help; Esthonia has sent to Moscow many car-loads of provisions. Only the Anglo-French tactics are infamous mockery of the needs of our starving people. They are planning a new intervention and discussing means for the overthrow of the Soviet rule."

Sweden has officially informed the Soviet Government that Sweden will participate in the famine relief work through its Red Cross.

ORGANISE COMMITTEE

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, September 5 (by mail).—A famine relief Committee was organised in Habarovsk in the middle of August. The Committee is composed of delegates of the army, Provincial Labor Council, the City Council, cooperative societies, communist and other political parties.

KING GEORGE SAYS WORLD GOAL NOW IS STABLE PEACE

Prays That Promises Of Harmony In Ireland May Be Fulfilled

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—Replying to a loyal address from the Convocation of York, the King said that stable peace is the goal towards which we must unceasingly labor. He is confident that his Ministers, both at Home and in the Dominions overseas, will keep it unswervingly before them.

Proceeding, His Majesty said: "It is a cause of deep seated relief, for which we owe thanks to God, that in answer to my appeal a new sign of hope has arisen in Ireland. I pray that the promise of a new era now held out may be realised, and that my Irish people may be united one to another in peace and good-will."

His Majesty concluded by saying that the supreme and vital task of rebuilding British commerce and prosperity needs the good-will and active co-operation of every citizen, and that goodwill among citizens is the surest foundation of international peace.

WATSON INQUEST ADJOURNED UNTIL TUESDAY MORNING

Evidence of identification was taken and the inquest over the body of Arthur Watson was adjourned by British Coroner G. W. King yesterday. Further inquiries are being made by the Municipal Police and the British authorities and the inquest will be resumed Tuesday. The funeral will be held at the Bubbling Well Cemetery this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock.

His body was washed ashore near the Liping Road Jetty, close by the Point flour mill, Tuesday morning after he had been missing since Saturday.

The mystery of the disappearance of Watson's key's, rings and money was cleared yesterday when they were found in the safe at the Health Department office where he was empolyed as translator. His house and office keys, a diamond and platinum ring, a jade and gold ring and $230 in bills were found in the safe.

Mr. D. Carter of Messrs. Gordon and Company, the only witness at yesterday's inquest, testified that he knew of no reason for Mr. Watson to commit suicide. Witness had lived with deceased at 57 Avenue Road since August 1, he said.

Muncie Held For Trial On $20,000 Gold Bail

Henry Muncie, who was recaptured after he and Amos Norman made a sensational escape from the American prison a week ago, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl on one of a series of charges he is facing and after pleading not guilty he was held for trial in the United States Court for China and his bail was fixed in the sum of Gold $20,000.

The charge that Muncie answered was that of having obtained two platinum watches by fraud from a Nanking Road jewelry shop, but in addition to this, it was announced that action is to be taken in connection with two other charges, one of breaking prison and one of assault with intent to kill, the latter based upon the attack that was made upon G. J. Engberg, jailer of the American prison, when Muncie and his c mpanion, Amos Norman, made their dash for liberty after throwing ammonia into Engberg's face and beating him with a revolver.

THANKS POLICE

At yesterday's hearing Major C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney, conducted the prosecution, Mr. R. C. Faithfull appeared for the Settlement Police and Mr. Leonard W. Hartigan, having been appointed by the Court, appeared for the accused. At the conclusion of the case Commissioner Schuhl took occasion highly to commend the members of the Settlement Police department for their co-operation with the American authorities in Muncie's case and he thanked them for what they had done in effecting the recapture of the prisoner.

According to the testimony given at the hearing Muncie first came under the notice of the police after July 31 when a complaint was made to the police by Chinese of the Mah War Lee Jewelry Company, 71 Nanking Road.

It was then alleged that a foreigner had presented a bogus draft for Gold $975 at the jewelry establishment in payment for two platinum watches which he had taken away, saying he would call the next day for his change, as the watches were valued at Mex. $1,150. When

If Weary Of Fiction Read Marco Polo For A Change

By Elsie McCormick

If you are weary of post-war romances, of problem stories regarding the disposal of the superfluous woman, or of magazine articles by the chief janitor at Versailles revealing the inside of the Peace Conference, go into the library of the Royal Asiatic Society and take a little excursion with Marco Polo to the Kingdom of Juju, the wonderful city of Kinsay, and all the other marvels of the Land of Kublai Khan.

It seemed to us when we first came to China that we were always crossing the trail of Marco Polo. Every time we admired a bridge, or a temple, or a pagoda, somebody told us that Marco Polo had seen it some six hundred years before and made all the remarks necessary on the subject. Marco pervades China as Michael Angelo does Italy, and every now and then we were goaded to take a page from Mark Twain and remark:

"Yes, we're willing to admit it. You might as well go ahead and tell us that Marco was the man who invented China.

YES! MARCO DID IT

"We're willing to admit that he was the first one to describe the Garden Bridge, the outdoor ballroom at the Astor House and the scents of Yangtszepoo. We're ready to affirm if necessary that he won the first Sweepstake and was the pioneer person to pay the full price for a cabin two decks below the dining-salon. Only please go 'way and let us hear the gentle noises of a Chinese orchestra tuning up, just for a change."

In the Temple of Five Hundred Genii in Hangchow, we were led from one golden gentleman to another while three volunteer Chinese guides tried to decide which was the Venetian prototype of Cook's Tours. They finally picked out two and let us choose between them, which we did by the "Eenie, meenie, minie, mo" method.

We were led off on a similar chase in Canton, where we discovered another Marco being used temporarily as a clothes-rack by soldiers stationed in temple. As his features were entirely submerged under a khaki uniform and other accessories, we went away feeling that the introduction had been a failure.

But since reading Marco's own naive accounts of his twenty year joy-ride through "Hermenia, Hormuz, Chandu, Tebet, Manzi, Fuju, and Far Cathay," he has become as real to us as the landlord who won't do over the living-room. From the day when he left Venice with his father and uncle at the age of twenty-one in the time of his return more than twenty years later, Marco observed and recorded with the fresh joy of a traveler on the first day of his maiden journey. Anybody who has tried to keep a diary while traveling knows the rapid shrinkage in volume and the quick progress from closely written pages to total blankness. Marco proved his greatness by writing with even greater interest of his return journey than he did of his first venture into the court of Kublai Khan.

MESSENGER IS MARCO

Taken into the heart of Asia by his father and uncle, Marco Polo lived for years at the Mongol court, carrying important messages for the Khan through Kweichow, Yunnan, Szechuen, Thibet and Shensi. He was later sent to Hangchow and Foochow to investigate their revenue with a view to setting their tribute rate, and for three years ruled as governor of Yangchau. When Siang-yang was being beseiged by the Khan, Marco Polo, with the aid of a German and a Nestorian Christian, constructed catapults capable of hurling stones weighing three hundred pounds, which, Marco modestly admits, won a decisive victory for the Khan's forces.

Old Kublai Khan, whose chief claim to renown in most people's minds is that "he did a pleasure dome decree" looks out from the pages of Marco Polo and almost shakes hands with the reader. Wearying of the tame leopards, the golden chariots and the bowing retainers that figured in his court, he cultivated a weakness for pithy anecdotes and funny stories. After repeating all the Venetian jokes that he remembered and inventing a few of his own, Marco was driven to keeping his eyes open as to travel, just to save up a few yarns for the amusement of the Khan. Every horseman that sat down unexpectedly on the high road, every coolie that became involved in a hornet's nest, and every fat mandarin who was inconvenienced by the breaking of the chair-poles was jotted down in the Venetian's note-book, to be recounted to the Khan later in his palace at Chandu.

KASHGAR SHOCKS HIM

Though there are times when Marco's credulity was a bit more powerful than his judgment, he usually keeps a balance between truth and

CONFERENCE WILL DEAL WITH 3 BIG QUESTIONS

China, Siberia And The Mandates Will Be Threshed Out There

FROM 2 ANGLES

Principles With Their Application Regarding Far Eastern Matters

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 14.—It is understood that the Chinese Government has received from one of its Ministers abroad the following statement in regard to the Pacific Conference:

The Pacific Conference will deal with three main questions, namely, China, Siberia and the mandated territories. The questions relating to China and Siberia will be divided under two sub-headings, namely Principles and Application of Principles. These will be further divided as follows:

1.—Territorial integrity.

2.—Maintenance of Administrative rights.

3.—Matters relating to the open door.

4.—Ceded rights and extraordinary privileges.

5.—Chinese railways (especially the Chinese Eastern Railway.)

6.—President conditions and to what extent international obligations are being fulfilled.

BELGIUM HAS DELEGATION

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, Sept. 13.—The Belgian delegation to protect Belgian interests in the Far East at the Washington Conference will consist of M. Jasper, the Foreign Minister, M. Theunis, the Minister of Finance, Baron de Marchfenne, the Belgian Ambassador at Washington, and M. Franque, an expert on Chinese questions.

BRITISH SEND 50

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 13.—The French Embassy at Washington announces that it has received official confirmation of the participation of M. Briand in the disarmament Conference.

The British Foreign Office has notified the Embassy in Washington that the British delegation to the Conference will number 50, apart from the four official delegates.

The Temps announces that all the Great Powers have expressed their concurrence in the admission of Belgium and Holland to the discussions of the Washington Conference. Invitations will be sent later to those Governments whose attendance is looked for.

The Daily Express understands that the suggestion made by a certain newspaper that the disarmament conference should be postponed for a year will receive no support in England. The Express sees no reason for such an adjournment, and remarks that it is in France's interest that the conference summoned by President Harding should settle the question of disarmament as early as possible, since she has twice been the victim of aggression on the part of a nation whose sole strength rests on armaments.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Temps, commenting on a speech delivered by M. Leon Bourgeois in the League of Nations Assembly, says it cannot have failed to produce a deep impression in those circles which are attentively following the work that is being done at Geneva. M. Bourgeois applied himself to setting at rest the uneasiness which has been given rise to by the initial difficulties which the League of Nations has encountered through the non-adhesion of the United States.

He showed that the invitation addressed to the five Great Powers by the American Government to discuss the problem of disarmament could not be regarded as thwarting the efforts of the League, and that the disarmament question could be discussed at Washington in the same spirit as at Geneva, i.e., with a sincere desire to effect a reduction of military expenditure.

The essential aim, says the Temps, is to achieve results, and it is evident that if the Washington Conference can bring these about, in the existing political state of affairs in the civilised world, it is evident that the League of Nations would thereby gain a considerable moral advantage, since there would then be created the atmosphere of peace which is indispensable for its work.

This work has been happily defined by M. Bourgeois, who outlined a threefold aim for its immediate action, viz. (1) the establishment of an International Court of Justice, (2) the international organisation of the life of nations, and (3) the defense of peace against the risks which assail it.

"We do not wish," M. Bourgeois declared in his speech, "to impair the sovereignty of any state or nation, or seek to establish any sovereignty, but above the political sovereignty of states there is a moral sovereignty—that of right."

"These are words," remarks the Temps, "which France can endorse."

MUST CHANGE POLICY

(Japan Advertiser)

New York, September 8.—The New Republic, in an editorial on the Far Eastern situation, says:

"If the Japanese Government continues, with the connivance of the British Foreign Office, to carry on attacks on the independence and integrity of China, there can be no peace, no disarmament in the Pacific. Assuming the correctness of the American contentions, the Pacific Conference will not succeed unless it convinces the public opinion of the world of the relation between the Japanese Government's aggressive policy and Japanese armaments and of the necessity of abandoning that policy as a condition of reducing armaments. Once the public opinion of the world is thoroughly informed and convinced of this, Japan will not be able to hold out for long. She does not occupy a sufficiently secure physical and moral position to justify isolating herself and incurring the condemnation of the consensus of opinion in the great maritime countries.

"Japan originated her prevailing policy during a period in which France, Germany, Russia and Great Britain were contending unscrupulously for privileges and concessions in China. One by one they have all been forced to suspend this policy of encroachment, leaving Japan almost alone in her attitude.

"But in the meantime the world has changed. There now exists a much truer general realisation of the fatal results of such aggression in China and of the necessity of cutting out the physical and moral costs of continuing it. Japan may be reluctant to recognise the change, but in the end she will have to do so.

"The conference at Washington, if managed with a view to its large ultimate success rather than to any petty and immediate gain, will serve to bring this necessity home to Japanese public opinion."

AMERICAN SCHOOL OPENS FOR TERM

With the largest enrolment in its history, the Shanghai American School opened yesterday for the 1921-1922 term.

The school is to conduct a campaign for funds during the week of October 16, when it is hoped to raise Taels 150,000 to complete the new school which will be on Avenue Petain and Avenue Francis Garnier. It is expected that work on the new buildings will be started in a few months.

Just as the ancient wire-tapping fake, the palmed pea in the three-shell game, and the salted gold mine are revived periodically in America and successfully worked on the gullible public, just so are the more ancient trickeries of China dragged from their hiding places and made to pay once more.

One of the oldest and therefore surest confidence games in China is worked thuswise: One fakir hurries along the crowded pathway. He drops a package close to a prosperous appearing pedestrian whom he has selected for the victim. His accomplice close behind picks it up just as Friend Victim is about to grasp it.

Accomplice congratulates himself on his swiftness. He calls the victim's attention to the bulk, the weight and other imaginary indications of great value hidden under the wrapper. He believes however that Friend Victim should share the find. But he hasn't time to bother with it. He will sell his share, sight unseen for $2, large money. He usually gets it.

Loo Dze-ling got his on Monday by working the old, old game on Mohawk road. The victim, an unidentified female Chinese, for want of the necessary $2 purchased full possession of the find with a pair of gold ear-r'ngs. Loo was caught cold with the goods by a C.P.C. who had been watching his operations.

Loo got his again yesterday in the Mixed Court when his case was heard—two years in the penitentiary for larceny, and two more years for having disregarded a previous expulsion. He had a record of only eleven previous convictions. His accomplice has not yet been taken. The trusting woman who was fleeced out of her ear bangles has not yet been located.

THE DEADLIER SEX

No, all of the confidence men of Shanghai are not men. There is Wong Zung-sz, for instance, who was described on the Mixed Court records yesterday as a female of 46 winters. The charge was that by certain false pretenses she had obtained from one innocent Zung Wen-lan the sum of $2.60 as part payment on a phony, conterfeit, and otherwise worthless lottery ticket. It was charged, further, that Mrs. Wong had fraudulent intent in her heart throughout the whole transaction.

Zung was bilked out of his $2.60 like this: Madame Wong approached him Tuesday evening at his shop in Haining road with a lottery ticket, which, she almost guaranteed, just couldn't lose. It cost but $11.

The ticket looked good to Zung, and the assurance that everything was fixed for him to win listened better. Yet $11 all in one piece was beyond him. He offered the contents of his safe, $2.60, as part payment, with a solemn promise to pay the balance some other time.

Between the time of Mrs. Wong's first visit and her return for the second payment, Zung proudly exhibited his purchase to his friends. He was quickly disillusioned as to its value. When Wong Zung-sz returned Tuesday for the unpaid $7.40 she completed the transaction with a waiting Police Constable. In court yesterday she was sentenced to three months in jail. Zung however did not recover his $2.60, but he has a pretty lottery ticket as a moment's.

manent committee on armaments, which, he contended, was doing good work.

Mr. Doherty has declined nomination for the permanent court of international justice, leaving Sir Robert Borden as the only Canadian candidate.

WILL ELECT JUDGES

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Council and the Assembly of the League of Nations will meet separately for the election of the judges of the International Court of Justice. Eleven judges and four substitutes have to be chosen from a list of nearly 90 candidates.

GRATEFUL FOR AID

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, September 12.—The League of Nations Commission on Communications and Transit today discussed Mr. Adachi's report and adopted several of his recommendations, including one regarding the simplification of passport facilities and another inviting members of the League to grant facilities to the various commissions for the duration of their mandates. A third recommendation dealing with the appointment of an expert to be selected from the riverain States of the Danube was also adopted.

TO DEFER ACTION

Geneva, Sept. 13.—The League of Nations Committee has adopted the recommendation of Mr. Adachi in favor of leaving the difficult question of relations between the International Labor Office and the Council of the League in suspense.

GENEVA VS THE HORN

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, September 13.—The President of China is in receipt of a communication from an organisation in England that is urging the changing of the seat of the League of Nations from its present location in Geneva to a site that will be chosen for in the neighborhood of Constantinople. The attitude of the President upon this matter is thus far unknown.

Eight reasons are advanced for the changing of the site from Geneva to Constantinople, of which the most important is the fact that Constantinople has from "time immemorial been regarded as the meeting place of the East and the West," and "the choice of Constantinople as the seat of the League would impress Eastern peoples that the League is a world institution, and not an alliance of Western Powers."

Other reasons that are advanced are to the effect that Constantinople is accessible for the majority of the Capitals of the North, South, East and West and "no nation will think that the place has been chosen for the convenience of others;" that it will enable the statesmen of the League to "study those insidious influences which are ever at work in the Balkan cradle of war" and to study them "on the spot" that the League "would be housed within a mile or two of the palace of the Sultan, Commander of the Faithful," and this would greatly impress the followers of Mohammed; that "Constantinople is the traditional disturber of the peace" and that its possession makes a strong nation too strong, and in the hands of a weak nation a menace to international relations, and that the presence of the league would eliminate these difficulties; and that the seat of the League would, by the terms of the Turkish Peace, be upon International soil.

SPANISH TROOPS START CAMPAIGN AGAINST RIFFS

(Reuter's Service)

Madrid, Sept. 13.—The Spanish offensive against the Riffs, which has been in preparation for some time past, has now started from Melilla.

The strictest censorship is enforced.

An official communique says the Suk-el-Arda position was brilliantly captured under cover of the guns of the Spanish fleet. The enemy abandoned the camp with much material.

There were no Spanish casualties.

French Taxtile Strikers Quiet

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 13.—The labor dispute in the Northern France textile trade over the proposed wages reduction has culminated in a threat of a general strike, which, however, has only materialised partially.

Adequate measures were taken at once to maintain order and means of transport.

Complete order has prevailed up to the present.

Muncie Held For Trial; Bail Is $20,000 In Gold

making the purchase he had said that he lived at Room 6 at the Astor House and when the Chinese ascertained that this was not so and learned that the draft was valueless, the matter was placed in the hands of the police.

HE IS ARRESTED

It was on September 6 that Muncie was arrested and he was then identified by the Chinese of the jewelry store as the man who had obtained the two watches by fraud. His arrest was brought about when he again visited the Mah War Lee jewelry store. This particular stupidity on his part has not been explained. It is known only that he put in appearance at the store, the Chinese there promptly recognised him and called the police.

On September 7 when he was being given a hearing before the U. S. Commissioner Muncie admitted that he was a deserter from the 15th Infantry at Tientsin. Concerning the affair of the watches he asked that counsel be appointed to represent him and by reason of this request further hearing of the case was deferred.

That same evening about 7 o'clock the prison break was engineered by Muncie and Norman, also held as a deserter from the 15th Infantry. Norman had been a prisoner for several weeks awaiting action of the military authorities.

RECOVER ONE WATCH

In the course of the testimony given yesterday all the details of the transaction with the watches were reviewed and it was disclosed that one of them, valued at $500, had been recovered and has been returned to the jeweler. A foreigner, whom the authorities have had no hesitation in identifying as Muncie, mistook two police officers for citizens in the Astor Grill one night in August and tried to sell what appeared to be a silver watch to them, asking $200 for it. Their suspicions were aroused and it was while they were trying to communicate with Hongkew Police Station that the man escaped, leaving behind the watch. The watch was identified as one of the two that had been taken from the jewelry store.

It was brought out in testimony that the bogus draft for Gold $975 originally had been the second of exchange of a draft for Gold 8,075 that had been drawn on the Asia Banking Corporation in favor of the American Bank Note Company and had been clumsily altered. How the second of exchange came into Muncie's possession has not been brought to light.

Amos Norman, who escaped with Muncie, is still at large.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—An official report of a meeting of the Cabinet Unemployment Committee says the Committee reviewed the whole position in regard to unemployment and considered means to relieve the present distress and the measures required to provide for the situation in the coming winter.

About 290,000 persons have exhausted their right to the unemployment benefit, but will be re-entitled to draw the benefit for a further 16 weeks from November 2. This should materially relieve the position.

The Committee examined various proposals in regard to methods of rendering financial sistance to local authorities districts where unemployment particularly severe who are prared to undertake relief schet upon some genuine work of p lic utility.

Health Department Report Reviews Cholera Situation

Inquiry Shows Common Cause Of Disease Is Disregard Of Warnings Given

Perhaps the most significant thing in connection with the recent mild outbreak of cholera in the International Settlement is to be found in that portion of a Health Department report, published in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette, which says that "in practically all these cases investigated by the Health Inspectors, breaches of the public health notice concerning food and drink were found."

The following is from the report of the acting Commissioner of Public Health:

Cholera, which, by an increase in the number of cases of acute diarrhoea during July, appeared to be threatening, broke out in August with moderate severity.

Eight foreign and 86 Chinese cases notified in the Settlement were verified bacteriologically in the Laboratory: there were four deaths among foreigners and nine among Chinese.

These figures do not completely represent the incidence and mortality because notification is imperfect. One hundred and sixteen specimens were examined in the Municipal Laboratory and the identity of the disease with true epidemic cholera was proved by complete cultural and serological tests.

In two cases the vibrios found failed to agglutinate with true cholera serum—these were probably closely allied forms—the so-called para-cholera vibrios: they produce a similar disease, but usually milder and with a lower mortality.

The most important fact from the Public Health point of view is that in practically all these cases investigated by the Health Inspectors, breaches of the public health notice concerning food and drink were found.

The infection is almost always caused by food or drink contaminated directly or indirectly, as by flies, from the excretions of a previous case.

There was also an unusually large number of cases of amoebic dysentery, and here again, practically all followed breaches of the public health notice.

Professor Clifford Dobell, F.R.S., who has made very exhaustive studies of the dysentery amoebae and is one of the greatest living authorities on the subject, has expressed views in his report to the Medical Research Council which are well worth consideration.

He has found that the amoebae are world-wide in distribution, and considers that there are different races of amoebae adapted to different races of men. In this case they usually live as harmless parasites on their hosts. But if a person in an alien country becomes infected with the amoebae of that country, it frequently happens that he develops dysentery before adaptation takes place: he has no tolerance for the amoebae, and cannot resist their harmful activities.

Old residents sometimes deride the instructions of the public health notice and cast ridicule on those who observe it, saying, "Look at me! I've been here so many years, have never taken any of these precautions, and have never had anything the matter with me."

By good fortune, the amoebae with which they must pretty certainly have been infected, have become adapted to them without causing disease. But they undertake a very grave responsibility when they persuade others, especially new-comers, to ignore precautions based on the facts of infection, when the consequence may be painful, depressing and frequently fatal illness.

Professor Dobell trenchantly states: "Infection can only be acquired, in natural conditions, by swallowing fresh, undried cysts (of amoebae) derived from the faeces of a human being."

"The frequency with which dysentery still occurs indicates conditions implying personal uncleanliness or faulty sanitation: it is clear we have much to learn about individual and communal hygiene."

Men of science, by ceaseless observation and research discover the causes of disease and the methods of prevention. By these, must individuals and communities work out their own sanitary salvation.

Wedding

DUNBAR-SOWERBY
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 11.—The marriage of Miss Christine Sowerby and Mr. Robert Dunbar, Secretary of the British Legation, was celebrated at the British Leagation yesterday morning, and in the British Legation Chapel in the afternoon by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Norris, D. D.

The wedding was one of the prettiest seen in Peking for many years. The chapel was filled with friends of the young couple and of the bride's parents, the Rev. A. and Mrs. Sowerby. Mr. Dunbar was attended by Mr. E. S. Bennett of the British Legation as best man. The Misses Rita, Phyllis, Valerie and Myrtle McCoy, young nieces of the bride, were bridesmaids.

A reception, which was largely attended, was given at the Grand Hotel des Wagons-Lits.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clive, Mrs. Sidney Barton, Lady Clifton, Major-General and Mrs. Higashi, Mr. and Mrs. Tokugawa, the Rev. E. J. Bentley, Dr. and Mrs. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Pridaux Brune, Mrs. Hill Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Bowra, Dr. and Mrs. Cormack, Dr. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Eckfelt, Mr. A. de C. Sowerby, Mr. Harding, Messrs. Meiville, Brenen and Beare.

DZAU-SZE

A very pretty wedding was solemnised at the Church of Our Saviour yesterday when Captain Linson Edward Dzau, formerly of the Chinese Delegation to the Versailles Conference and now attached to the secretariat of the Chinese Delegation to the Pacific Conference was married to Miss Meitsung Sze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Sze. The church was crowded.

Mr. W. J. Wen of the Y.M.C.A. acted as best man and the bridemaids were the Misses S. Y. Tseu, M. Y. Tseu, T. E. Chur, S. T. Yu, T. L. Yui, W. T. Sze, Z. Y. Tsao and M. L. How. The train-bearers were Misses Yen and Yang, while the Misses Nyien and Sze were flower girls.

Bishop F. R. Graves officiated at the ceremony and was assisted by the Rev. P. N. Tsu, rector of the Church of Our Saviour. The hall was beautifully decorated with bamboo and floral bunting. Mrs. F. W. Van Buskirk presided over the organ while Mrs. Thompson rendered a vocal solo after the ceremony.

The groom's men were Messrs. H. L. Huang, T. N. Lee, S. F. Chao, T. S. Sih, C. C. Liu, C. Y. Tang, T. K. Kiang and C. Y. Huang and the ring bearer was Master Nyien.

The bride looked beautiful in a dress of white satin trimmed with pearls. She wore a pearl coronet.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Yih Ping Shang Hotel where the happy couple received the congratulations of their many friends. The wedding gifts were many and beautiful.

Captain and Mrs. Dzau will sail for the United States on the Empress of Asia on Saturday.

Read Marco Polo; 400 Years Ahead Of Cook's Tourists

fiction that does credit to a man in an age that had no libel laws or correspondents' column in the newspapers. He states in one place, however, that the people of Kashgar "have an astonishing acquaintance with the deviltries of enchantment inasmuch as they make their idols to speak. They can also by their sorceries bring about changes of weather and produce darkness, and do a number of things so extraordinary that no one without seeing them would believe them." He also remarks that wine cups were sometimes carried to the Khan's table by enchantment, without the agency of human hands, but then it is probable that he observed this phenomenon after about the eighth cup.

Marco's first glimpse of a crocodile is described in an agony of protestation as to the veracity of his statements. Though convinced beforehand that the Venetians would be much more likely to believe in a personal apparition of the devil, he bravely plunges in and remarks that the reptiles are "ten paces in length and in bulk equal to a great cask. They have two forelegs near the head, but for foot nothing but a claw like the claw of a hawk. The head is very big and the eyes are bigger than loaves of bread. And in short they are so fierce-looking and so hideously ugly that every man and beast must stand in fear and trembling of them."

BEAUTIFUL EVEN THEN

Marco's best adjectives, however, are reserved for his official visit to the great Kinsay, known to this generation as Hangchow. He describes in rapt terms the beautiful sing-song girls whose charm has caused Hangchow to be known as 'The City of Heaven;' he rhapsodises about the lake with the pavilions along its shore; he is enchanted by the neighborliness of the people and the lack of disputes; and he describes in detail the night-watchman with his gong, who still patrols the interior cities of China.

Marco's statements about the cleanliness of the inhabitants makes the reader marvel about the change that has taken place, until he considers that Italian standards of the thirteenth century were hardly the same as today. The traveler remarks naively that Hangchow has what must be the largest bath in the world, "accommodating as it does fully one hundred people."

The prize raconteur of the court of Kublai Khan, with his uncle and father, were so prized by the anecdote-loving sovereign that they had great difficulty in leaving Chandu. The flavory reminiscences of Marco Polo might have died in the heart of Asia if a certain princess about to marry the ruler of Persia had not demanded them as her escort. Setting out from the court, the three foreigners conducted the young lady safely to Tabriz, despite the fact that the hardships of the journey killed all but eighteen of the accompanying 600 courtiers. And when they reached Persia, they found that her fiance was dead.

DOGS BARK AT THEM

Leaving the lady consoled by another suitor, the three Venetians returned home at last, where they had a real Rip Van Winkle welcome. Their relations refused to believe that these three outlandishly dressed men who wore clothes of a Tartar cut and who had almost forgotten their own language were really part of the family. After having been chased by the dog several times, the Polos bought the recognition of their relations by showing them a few thousand precious stones. The neighbors then all called for souvenirs and the wanderers became the rage in the community.

Marco's memoirs were written in prison a few years later, after his capture by the Genoans in the course of a sea-battle. The story of his travels so interested his cellmate that he insisted on Marco's compiling his notes and dictating the story. If Maro Polo had not been jailed, the tale of his adventures might never have reached the world.

The only other mention of Marco Polo occurs a few years after his return to Venice, when the books of the Grand Council record that "the respectable Marco Polo had been excused from paying the penalty incurred by not having had his drain-pipe properly inspected."

Thus the glorious adventures of the man who saw the court of the Khan, the Kingdom of Fuju, and the great city of Kinsay reach their end at last in the bald report of a mediaeval plumber.

Erzberger Slayers Known But Not Yet Put Under Arrest

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Sept. 13.—According to advices from Munich, the Baden authorities have ascertained that the murderers of Herr Erzberger were a student named Tillessen and a merchant named Schulz, who were recently living in Munich. They are members of the Ehrhard Brigade which took a prominent part in Kapp's insurrection.

The accused have not yet been arrested owing to the Baden police being hindered in their search for the murderers, alleges the Vorwaerts. According to the Berliner Tageblatt, many persons who have been recently arrested in Berlin confessed that they had been in communication with the murderers.

AFGHAN COMPACT TO TAKE MONTHS TO SETTLE TERMS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—Reuter learns the latest reports received in London regarding the Anglo-Afghan negotiations at Kabul are favorable, that the conversations have not been broken off and that there is no prospect of a rupture.

It was fully realised when the conversations opened that they would be a long and sometimes disheartening business. The course of the negotiations has always been uncertain, varying from the brightest to the blackest at short notice.

They are affected particularly by outside events such as the Turco-Greek war, while Turkish and Bolshevik propaganda is rife. The framing of a treaty must be the work not of weeks but of months.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

STUDENTS RENEW BOYCOTT; STRIKE IS NOW SETTLED

(China Press Correspondence)

Canton, Sept. 10.—The Canton students and laborers have renewed their agitation in favor of boycotting Japanese goods. As they are receiving no serious attention from the public, it is not believed that their agitation will carry much weight.

The election of members-at-large for the City Advisory Council which took place September 1 resulted in favor of the labor element. Ten members were chosen, one of them a woman, Madame Tang Wei-fong, who received the support of the Canton Women's Union. Madame Tang is a woman journalist. There will be 30 members of the Advisory Council of Canton City. Aside from the ten elected by the citizens, the Civil Governor will appoint ten official members, the General Chamber of Commerce and the Labor Federation will appoint three each, and the Medical, the Bar, the Engineering and the Educational Associations of the city will appoint one each.

Before the next Republican Anniversary, October 10, the Canton City and each of the districts throughout Kwangtung will have its assembly or council to supervise the working of the local governments. The district magistrates recently elected by the people will be inaugurated on or before next October 10.

It is believed that Kwangsi will be the next province under the Constitutional Government to adopt the system of local government by having a chief executive and a local legislative body all elected by the people.

The Civil Governor of Kwangtung, however, retains much power through his appointment of district police chiefs and collectors of provincial revenue.

STRIKES ARE ENDED

The tea-house waiters, the bakers and also their employers are now happy, as a peaceful settlement of the strikes has ended in favor of the workmen and given the tea-house managers an excuse to increase the prices on a cup of tea and refreshments. While an increase of from 20 to 30 percent in wages has been awarded to the laborers, the tea-house managers have added a third to their price-lists, causing no little adverse comments from the patrons of these places. The prices of raw materials have not been increased and the public cannot see the reason for the new food prices.

The number of cholera cases in Canton has been reduced. The Police and the City Board of Health are still prohibiting the sale of uncooked food, cold drinks and other articles which would transmit the disease. They seem to have the situation in hand.

REDS RESPECT U.S. PROPERTY IN URGA IS REPORT

Peking, September 13.—Mr. Samuel Sokobin, American Consul in Kalgan, arrived in Urga by motor car about the middle of August, accompanied by Messrs. F. A. Larsen and E. Clemmensen, representatives of Messrs. Andersen, Meyer and Co.

Mr. Sokobin found conditions in Urga quiet, according to reports that have just reached Peking, and was able to satisfy himself that American property in the city had, in the main, remained unmolested. At the time when Mr. Sokobin reached Urga Mr. Kunhardt, a former Austrian subject who is representing the Mongolian Trading Company in Urga, was under arrest, but the American Consul's representations to the Mongols effected Mr. Kunhardt's prompt release.

SHANTUNG TO ASK GOV'T POSTPONE NEGOTIATIONS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 11.—The Shantung Provincial Assembly and various public bodies at Tsinanfu, upon learning that the Japanese Minister had again approached the Chinese Government with a request that negotiations regarding Kiaochao and other outstanding Sino-Japanese questions in Shantung should be opened forthwith, have resolved to unite in sending a delegation to Peking with the object of urging the Government not to comply with the request.

A telegram from the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce at Shanghai, opposing the opening of the negotiations, has been received by the Government.

The Ministry of the Interior has issued instructions to General Yin Hung-shou, Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police in Peking, to issue a contradiction of misleading reports that have recently appeared in the Chinese Press regarding the body of police that were being trained with a view to their replacing the Japanese police on the Shantung Railway when the Japanese garrisons are withdrawn from Shantung.

The Ministry says that the Cabinet decided on July 8 to establish a force of thoroughly efficient police for this object, and the necessary regulations were passed.

Recently, however, the scheme has been cancelled owing to the shortage of funds. No outside influence has been at work in connection with this matter.

BLOOD AND IRON BANDS GO SOUTH TO NEW FIELDS

Chinese Nihilists, patriots of "Iron and Blood" who would "dare to die" and other members of various heroic confederations for the annihilation of traitors to China have all "gone south," according to the reports of the Police Commissioner in today's Municipal Gazette.

During recent months there has been a most remarkable and continuous diminution in the number of letters demanding, ostensibly for political purposes, more or less huge sums of money under threats of assassination. The attempts at extortion usually were inaugurated by means of documents sealed and signed by members of the "Iron and Blood Society," "Revolutionary Army," "New Revolutionary Society," "Out of Office Politicians," "Chung Hua Society for the Propagation of Justice," "Chung Hua Iron and Blood Society," "Iron and Blood Dare to Die Company," "Body which punishes traitors and protects the Constitution," "Traitor Extermination Army," "Shanghai Branch of the Chinese Iron and Blood Club," "Shanghai Army of the Society for the Preservation of the Constitution of China," "People's New Confederation," "Nihilist Confederation," "Revolutionary Heroic Confederation," "Society for annihilating traitors," "National Guard," "Righteous National Salvation Society," "Association for the equal division of property" and "Bombers of the Righteous Army of Kiangpeh."

Sea-Sickness Can be Prevented!
No Drugging—No Unpleasant After-Effects.
An appreciative doctor wrote:—
"Lady——was placed under my care for the voyage Home. I could not accept any responsibility as I considered she was in great danger from haemorrhage should she vomit. She had always been a very bad sailor. As a precaution she was given two capsules of 'KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE' immediately she went on board. We got into rough water shortly before midnight, but Lady——had an undisturbed night's rest. She took one capsule half-an-hour before dressing. She had breakfast in the dining hall, and assured me she had no sensation of nausea or sickness. Although we had rough weather for five days, and at other periods of the voyage, she was not sea-sick. There was no nausea of any kind, and the remedy produced no after-effects."

HANKOW WINS LAWN BOWLS INTERPORT MATCH AGAINST SHANGHAI; SCORE 29-16

Interport Match Shanghai vs. Hongkong Will Be Bowled Saturday Afternoon

BY "THE SHOT"

The Interport lawn bowls match between Hankow and Shanghai, played at Hankow on Tuesday, the 13th inst., resulted in a win for Hankow by 29 points to 16. The team which represented Shanghai was:

S. Poignand (skip)
H. Smyth
N. David
S. Chilver.

So Hankow have at last lowered the colors of Shanghai, and I don't suppose a bowler in this port will begrudge them their victory.

This is the sixth year these games have been in progress and the credit of their inauguration is due to this year's winners.

It was in 1916 that W. Laidlaw brought a team down to Shanghai and they created a very favorable impression by only losing by 8 points on a rather heavy ground. In 1918 Hongkong sent a team up here for the first time and it is to be hoped that these yearly series will continue without a break.

I have no doubt that when the association is put on a proper footing, some recognition will be shown to Interport players in the way of blazers.

SHOULD HAVE BLAZERS

Considering the number of players and the fact that only four men are required to play in an interport game, it is an honor exceedingly hard to attain, I should say much more difficult than in any other branch of sport.

Such being the case it is only right that an Interporter should have the right to wear a distinguishing badge of some kind.

SHANGHAI SCORES 178 IN CLAY BIRD INTERPORT SHOOT

Waits For Tientsin Total; Confident That They Have Won

Shanghai clay bird shots are resting over night with a total of 178 as their mark in the telegraphic interport clay pigeon contest with Tientsin. They are confident that returns from the North cannot exceed that total. They were willing, last night, even to bet on it.

The telegram with the Tientsin scores had not been received up until a late hour last night, though it should surely be available with its tale of Tientsin proficiency this morning.

The Shanghai score follow:

H. H. Reid	40
H. Gibson	38
Hexamer	37
Beatty	32
Gande	31
Total	178

The shoot yesterday was held under the most unfavorable conditions with a driving rain and a sharp wind blowing straight across the range.

Mr. J. F. W. Milne, a former interport shot for Shanghai, refereed yesterday's shooting.

H'KONG TRAINING SERIOUSLY FOR INTERPORT SWIM

Team Not Yet Selected; Trials Designed To Qualify Only Strongest Men

Hongkong, Sept. 8.—With a little less than three weeks more to go before the Interport contest with Shanghai takes place the task of chosing the Hongkong team has been taken seriously in hand. It has been decided to hold trials in the V. R. C. bath twice a week, namely, on Tuesdays and Fridays, starting at 9 p.m. each day.

The first trials will be held tomorrow when it is proposed to run the 50 and 220 yards races. These events are open to anyone in the Colony who fancies himself at any of the two distances. A water polo match has been arranged to complete the evening's work.

On Tuesday, 13th inst., candidates for 440 yards, long plunge and high dive (12 feet) will be worked off.

The public is welcome to attend these trials, for which there will be no charge.

The trials will be a sort of eliminating process in which two men will be pitted against each other at one time. This is necessary for the purpose of studying each candidate's form, and, where thought advisable, to give him time for training. The results of these trials will not ensure inclusion in the team, and the winners of each trial will be pitted against each other in turn, until the best two men remain. These will compete at a night fete for the purpose of deciding the best man at each distance. The same applies to the plunging and diving trials.

The next night fete of the V.R.C. has been fixed for September 16 when it is hoped that trial final of the 220 or 100 yards will be run off. It is not intended to make the contest an individual Club affair, but a struggle in which the best in Hongkong will be pitted against Shanghai.

In the 50 yards race, J. R. Johnstone, the Colony's champion, of course, is relied upon, but as points for places also count towards Interport honors any man who can cover the distance in 29 seconds or under will be a great asset to the team. Mr. Witchell has already tried out two Chinese youths from the Y.M.C.A. at this distance, and reports them to be very good, covering the distance in 27 4-5 and 28 seconds respectively. This performance is considered creditable, in view of the fact that the times were made in practice only.

Jim Barnes, Am'n Golfing Champ, Is Cornish Born

BY R. ENDERSBY HOWARD

James Barnes, a native of Lelant, in Cornwall, although long domiciled in the United States, established himself definitely as one of the world's greatest golfers by winning the United States open championship on the Chevy Chase course, Washington, with a score of 289 strokes for four rounds—an average of 72¼ strokes a round.

It was only last year, when he came to Deal for the British open championship, that the people of the Old Country began to realise that a new star had arisen in the golfing world. Until near the end he had a chance of winning. Ultimately he finished sixth, and was the only competitor who, in the gale of wind that prevailed, beat 80 in each of the four rounds. "I've always concentrated on being consistent, even though it has often meant resisting a temptation to try an extra brilliant shot," he told me recently. The policy has come off trumps.

Barnes is 34 years of age—a slim but strongly built man of 6ft., whose figure and walk remind one irresistibly of James Braid at the same age. He left his native Lelant, where he was a caddie, in his teens, but some time his progress in the United States was not rapid.

DISCOVERED BY VARDON

In 1913 he was still an assistant, and happened to play against Vardon and Ray when those two men were touring in America. Some time after Vardon was asked by some United States golfers to name the most promising professionals he had seen in the country, and he put Barnes first.

The result was that Barnes received his first big appointment that season. He is now professional to the Pelham Club, New York. It is one of the "plums" of the golf profession in the United States. When it was vacant last year—just before Barnes was appointed to it—Vardon was offered a retaining fee equal to £3,000 a year to fill it but he wanted to return home.

At St Andrews last month Taylor, Braid, and many other British professionals regarded Barnes as the most likely of the entrants from the United States to take the British chamionship cup across the Atlantic, and he and Alexander Herd led the field with a round to play. Barnes, however, weakened in the last round, as he had feared from the outset he would do—he had undergone an operation for carbuncles at the back

The United States regained possession of her national open golf championship cup through the instrumentality of Long Jim Barnes, professional, of Pelham, N. Y. In the annual tournament held over the links of the Columbia Country Club, at Washington, Jim defeated a large field, with a total score of 289 strokes, and won the title and trophy carried to England last year by Ted Ray.

MANY ENTRIES ARE BOOKED FOR ARETHUSA CUP

Competition To Be Shot Off Monday Will Have 48 Entrants

Entries for the Arethusa Cup competition of the Shanghai Rifle Association closed Saturday with 48 entries booked, which is but three less than last year. The competition will be shot off Monday at 6:30 a.m. Competitors are requested to be at the firing point at 6:15, with sights adjusted as far as possible before arrival at the range. Unreasonable delay will disqualify a competitor. Squadding will commence at 6:20 and competitors not squadded by 6:30 may not be allowed to fire at the first range.

Conditions provide ranges of 200, 500 and 600 yards, with Bisley targets, one sighter and seven shots at each distance.

Following are the names of the entrants: (Japanese Co. leading with 10 men), C. Bedoni, E. I. M. Barrett, Y. Ben, C. Brook, A. E. Collins, R. C. Cole, K. D. Chen, J. S. Chen, A. M. Collaco, F. M. Frank Pomeroy And Bristow Join Bolshevik Leagu

A letter from Frank Pomeroy, a former Shanghai baseball star who is now in business at Vladivostok conveys the tidings that there is time and space in the Merkuloff Brothers little nation, between revolutions, for the well known game of baseball.

Frank writes that the American Civilian Baseball team has gotten itself booked up with the Honorable Japanese nine for a game. Pomeroy has been forced back into a uniform for the occasion. He is also hoping that Helen Bristow will play under the Red Flag, for Helen is now in the city of the Golden Horn attempting to lubricate the path to business for the Standard Oil Company.

"In the event of defeat," Pomeroy writes, "we have in the 'morgue' all of the alibis recently used by Shanghai."

RUSSIAN SOCIETY IN SUIT NAMES THE LIBERTY CLUB

Action Is Filed In American Court For Taels 3,000 Alleged To Be Due

The Liberty Club, an organisation composed chiefly of American war service men, which was formed about eight months ago, is named defendant in a suit for approximately Tls. 3,000 that was filed yesterday in the United States Court for China by the Russian Economic Society.

It is alleged in the petition that on February 23, 1921 the Russian Economic Society leased the premises at No. 1 Woosung Road to the Liberty Club at a monthly rental of Tls. 399 with the understanding that the lease would continue in effect until December 31, 1923. It is set forth further that the sum of Tls. 1,197 for the first annual quarter was paid by the Club and when the second payment was not made after repeated demands the Russian Society removed from the premises furniture and other property of the club on August 10 when the premises were leased to the Siberian Agricultural Society from August 10, 1921 until December 31, 1923 at a monthly rental of Tls. 342.

The petition also alleges that while the Liberty Club was in possession of the premises certain electrical equipment and in particular an armature valued at Tls 250 was stored in a closet in such a manner that it was destroyed.

The sums asked for are: Tls 1,038 for rent and taxes alleged to be due; Tls. 1,635.90 representing the difference in the rental charge to the present tenants and that given in the first lease to the Liberty Club and for Tls. 250, representing the value of the armature said to have been destroyed.

The suit is filed by Mr. C. Saveloff, Secretary of the Russian Economic Society, which is represented by Mr. P. F. Faison.

A roll of the ninety-odd members of the Liberty Club, all of whom are named in the action accompanies the petition.

J. E. De Beauchamp Drowns At Hongkong

Prominent French Resident Of Colony Victim In Tragic Accident

Hongkong, Sept. 10.—The death occurred through drowning on Monday of a well-known French resident of the Colony, M. J. E. de Beauchamp, General Manager of the Universal Imports and Exports Company, Hotel Mansions. The tragic accident evoked considerable regret among the French community, of which deceased was a popular member, and the deepest sympathy will be extended to his wife who is at present in France.

M. Beauchamp was last seen by his friends at 9 a.m. on Monday. In the evening he left the Hongkong Hotel, where he resided, for the purpose of bathing in the harbor, but where he went is not known. Next morning he did not return to his office and inquiries disclosed that he was not seen again in the hotel after he left the previous evening.

The water police were communicated with, and on Thursday afternoon the French Consulate was notified that the body was found by a police launch floating in the harbor between Stonecutters Island and Yaumati.

Deceased was a little over 50 years of age and had lived in Hongkong for about two years.

The funeral took place at Happy Valley yesterday evening.

British Warships Warmly Greeted In Holland Visit

(Reuter's Service)

Amsterdam, Sept. 13.—The visit of British warships to Dutch waters is attracting the greatest interest. Speaking at a Municipal banquet in honor of the British officers, the Burgomaster dwelt on the historic ties binding Britain and Holland. Admiral Hodges, in reply, said he hoped a Dutch squadron would soon pay a return visit to Great Britain.

Queen Wilhelmina received Admiral Hodges and his officers today at Het Loo.

The Prince Consort was present.

RICE IS $10.50

Commenting on the rice situation the Commissioner of Police says in today's Municipal Gazette:

The retail price of rice, according to Health Office Statistics taken on the first Tuesday of the month, was $11.80. A comparative return taken on the corresponding day for the past four years is as follows:

August 1918	.... $7.40	per picul
„ 1919	.... $8.20	„ „
„ 1920	.... $14.00	„ „
„ 1921	.... $11.80	„ „

Inquiries made at rice shops during the month show that rice of a very inferior quality can be bought at $8.80 per picul and the very best quality at $11.80. A good average quality rice, as used by the working class, can be obtained at $10.50 per picul.

of his neck just before leaving New York—and only tied for sixth place.

Evidently he has recovered his health to the full. His victory by a margin of 9 strokes over his nearest rivals. Walter Hagen and Fred McLeod, is remarkable. Barnes is something of a golfing enigma. He walks the links with a seemingly listless air, and examines the line of his putts—generally by looking up and down the line from the middle instead of from either end—with a casual air, which might be worn by a man who had dropped a button and did not care very much whether he found it or lost it. But he plays every shot in the game like a champion.

George Duncan and Abe Mitchell have been very disappointing—the more so after the way in which Ray and Vardon monopolised the honors at Toledo, Ohio, twelve months ago. But others have failed, too. They include Jock Hutchison, of Chicago, the new British champion. It is the biggest set-back that British golf has ever suffered that the open championship cups of the two hemispheres now repose in the United States.

TWO SINN FEIN ENVOYS CONSULT WITH LL. GEORGE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 13.—It is officially announced that two Sinn Fein envoys, Messrs. McGrath and Boland, interviewed Mr. Lloyd George this afternoon and discussed with him some points with reference to the proposed conference.

They are returning to Dublin with Mr. Lloyd George's views for further consideration.

CROWN COLONIES ADMINISTRATION WILL BE REVISED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 14.—An important scheme on which the Colonial Office is now engaged for the grouping of the Crown Colonies and Protectorates under High Commissioners and giving them larger autonomous powers, is outlined by The Times.

The object of the scheme is to meet the Colonies' demand for a greater share in the management of local affairs, especially finance. Mr. Churchill's action is stated to have been influenced by suggestions in a memorandum issued by the French Colonial Minister regarding the financing of the French colonies in bulk rather than piecemeal.

Under the grouping proposals, which are based on geographical considerations, the High Commissioners will exercise some of the present duties of the Colonial Secretary. Provision would be made for the appointment of a High Commissioner with authority over the African colonies and another for the Mediterranean possessions.

The Straits Settlements would be included with Ceylon, the Seychelles and Mauritius with a High Commissioner stationed at Port Louis. The Falkland, Fiji and other Pacific islands would be under a High Commissioner stationed at Suva.

The High Commissioners would be assisted by councils, partly elected and partly nominated by the electors and classified interests. The question of native representation on these councils however has still to be settled.

RECOVER MONEY WHEN CHINESE BODY IS FOUND

Notes And Check Stolen Last Sunday Recovered On Dead Man Washed Ashore

Nine hundred and thirty dollars in notes and a check for Taels 120, snatched from a Chinese on Seward Road on Sunday, were recovered yesterday when the body of one of the two men concerned in the robbery was washed ashore at the Hongkew Wharf. The money and check were found in a pocket of the dead robber's gown. The body was found shortly after noon.

It was the third Chinese to be found by river police in the Whangpoo in 24 hours. The first was washed ashore Monday afternoon at Kiukiang Road Jetty, while another was recovered off the French Bund near the Chinese city boundary yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Neither of these two have been identified. They were taken to the Chinese Mortuary up the river beyond the Robert Dollar Company Pah Li Ching Wharf.

One is believed to be the second of the two robbers who snatched the roll of money on Seward Road on Sunday and jumped into the Whangpoo near the Japanese Consulate after a chase by the police.

FRANCS-STERLING RATE

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Sept. 13.—The Paris London cross-rate was quoted today at £1=Fr. 51.64.

Y.M.C.A. Notes

Some of the women workers in the American Navy "Y" work at Chefoo have recently returned to Shanghai, bringing a report of the activities there that have been enjoyed by the American sailors during the summer. Among these are Miss Frances Taylor of the Shanghai American School, Miss Hazel Shoub of 20 Museum Road and Miss Lina Willis, Miss Mildred Crane and Miss Maddox of the National Y.W.C.A.

The building is crowded most of the time and the veritable beehive it presents in the afternoons and evenings is evidence of the real usefulness of the work. The men are unanimous in their praise of what the "Y" means to them and they can show their appreciation in no better way than they are doing—coming to the building and taking advantage of the good times awaiting them. The workers have tried to make the building as attractive as possible and have succeeded.

The Albany and a number of destroyers are now at Chefoo and the "Y" will remain open until they leave about the middle of this month. The young ladies who spent their vacations this summer working for the boys added much to the homelike atmosphere of the "Y." They worked hard and were eager in their desire to be of all the service possible. Much credit is due them for the success of the work in Chefoo. They all declared it the best vacation ever—said they had the time of their lives and all expressed the desire to go back next year.

HOLD BOXING SHOW

Last Saturday a smoker and boxing bout was staged which proved to be one of the largest navy gatherings of its kind ever staged in the Asiatics.

Two thousand were present, including the Admiral, the American and British Consuls, Captains Cone and Richardson, and many of the influential people of Chefoo.

Everything went off in fine shape and the roofs and walls surrounding the court were lined with sailors, looking like a flock of white birds perched on the eaves.

The naval authorities have been enthusiastic in making it possible for this work to be carried out successfully. They have given the "Y" the use of a motor launch for an afternoon and evening to take the men to a beach picnic.

All kinds of affairs have been arranged, sometimes a real Chinese dinner with a movie later, swimming parties, candy pulls, entertainments on the ships and in the building, band concerts and sight-seeing trips.

Religious meetings were carried on both in the building and on the ships with good attendances, and athletics also played a large part carried out under the leadership in the Chefoo work.

PLAN WORK IN 1922

It is hoped that it may be possible to carry on a similar work next summer in view of the good work done this year and the evident appreciation of the boys who are here in the Orient away from home influences and living under such an unnatural environment.

This summer program has been carried out under the leadership of Mr. P. R. Brown, the Secretary of the Shanghai Navy Y.M.C.A.

The special Committee which has made the plans consists of Messrs. C. M. Wentworth, F. R. Sites, N. A. Viloudaki, W. W. Lockwood, J. H. Black and H. A. Wilbur.

Will Entertain The Huron Crew At Tea

A group of young women who helped in providing entertainment at the Chefoo Navy Y.M.C.A. this summer will be hostesses at a tea to be held next Saturday afternoon at the local Navy Y.M.C.A. headquarters in honor of the U. S. S. Huron crew. Tea will be served from 4 to 6:30. The committee consists of Misses Hazel M. Shoub, Frances Taylor, Mildred Crane, Lina Willis, and Grace Maddox.

When Driven Almost Crazy With Sciatica

This Man Found Permanent Cure In Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A statement in a newspaper was of great service not long ago to Mr. Walter Mullis, a gentleman residing at 3 Beach Street, Petone, near Wellington, New Zealand. He had suffered with Sciatica badly for many months, had been treated by five different doctors, and at one time was nearly out of his mind with pain, when through reading how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured similar cases to his own, he tried them, and thus found complete cure himself.

"My back got a wetting, and as a result Sciatica attacked my right leg," says Mr. Mullis. "What I went through is past belief; for months I was laid up crippled in bed. My leg shrank and agonising pains shot down my calf. Often at night my wife would be up warming flannels and getting me hot vinegar and mustard poultices. Once, nearly crazed with pain, I had to have sleeping draughts administered, or I would have gone out of my mind.

"I fell off in weight and appetite and was a wreck of my former self. It was an agony to get in or out of a chair. Five doctors treated me, but in spite of their efforts I suffered until I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills curing Sciatica. I tried them, and soon found the pains a trifle less; as I kept on steadily the improvement continued and I began to pick up in every way. At last every twinge disappeared, and I am glad to say that I have never had a relapse. I could not wish for better health than I have enjoyed since."

Because they purify and enrich the blood, give fresh tone to the nerves and build up the whole system, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are of immense value to sufferers from rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica and neuralgia. Obtainable from medicine vendors everywhere, also post free $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

BOTH SIDES FIGHT HARD FOR ICHANG

Government that the demand for provincial autonomy and a strong federal government can no longer be disregarded and that they will have to lend a hand to see that a sane and efficient program is put through.

While the circular telegram sent to the three by the Government asks for their advice and counsel in regard to the best means of establishing the new order of things, it is plain that the Super-tuchuns are to help rather than obstruct.

The action of the government is in line with the original plan of General Wu Pei-fu and the carefully worded request is not intended so much for him as for the other High Inspecting Generals.

Everywhere in China, the dispatch says, there is a call for provincial autonomy and for a strong federal government and the call must be heeded. It is explained however that if such a program is to be successful it must be worked out carefully and the provincial and Central Government powers carefully demarked. In granting provincial autonomy, the Government says, it is necessary that there be no overlapping of powers and privileges. This, the officials believe, will be a difficult task and will require not only extensive technical and legal knowledge on the framers of the new constitutional provinces, but will require a special knowledge of the people and their wishes.

The Super-tuchuns are advised that they have at all times been loyal to the Republic and the people and that being in close touch with the people, they should know their needs and wishes. These things the Commissioners are requested to forward to Peking at once together with suggestions to bring about the desired changes with as little confusion as possible.

The Government makes it plain that it is going to see the self government program through and that it is necessary for the Government and the high authorities to take a directing hand that the result may be a group of self governing provinces working in harmony with each other and with the Central Government and leaving to the latter the control of all things that make for national strength and dignity.

INSURGENTS COLLAPSE

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, September 12.—The strong opposition created by his enemies against Wu Pei-fu's warlike attitude toward the Hupeh self-government movement is now being removed out since Yochow was taken and truce arranged by Wu Pei-fu with Chao Heng-ti at a private conference at Yochow.

The insurgent elements that offered so much opposition to Wu collapsed with the loss of Changsha support.

The break-up of insurgent forces happened at a time when Chao Heng-ti boldly decided that with the exhausted resources of Hunan he should not continue warfare with Wu Pei-fu. Just then telegraphic communication with Changsha was for a time interrupted, and Chao Heng-ti's message to Wu Pei-fu, expressing his earnest desire for peace was delayed in transmission. Wu Pei-fu got Chao's word only on August 30. Yochow was taken before that date by Wu, who did it because he lacked knowledge of Chao Heng-ti's attitude.

This prompted Wu Pei-fu to change his policy, formerly aimed at taking Changsha. He wired to his once close friend, Chao Heng-ti, at Changsha to come to Yochow to discuss terms of armistice.

At the time when Wu and Chao were discussing terms at Yochow, peace missions headed by Chang Shao-tseng, Chang Yi-ling, former Minister of Education, and representatives of Li Yuan-hung and others proceeded to Yochow from Hankow. They pursuaded Wu Pei-fu to utilise his power and prestige to fulfil his unfinished task of calling a National Citizens Convention to settle all internal questions, now that reconciliation has been effected with Chao Heng-ti.

Wu gladly accepted such counsel and requested Chang Shao-tseng, who drafted the peace terms of the Revolutionary Army of Wuchang in 1911 to the then Manchu government, to draft articles and regulations of a national convention to be known as the Lushan National Questions Convention.

Wu intimated he would not proclaim and circularise this message to the provinces calling for delegates from them, nor would he be a signatory to such declaration. This he did for two reasons: first, his leadership in the matter might cause opposition from his rivals in both north and south China; second, this would afford him ample time to bring to his cause as many provinces as possible.

The circular telegram bearing the news of convocation of this national convention was signed by Chang Shao-tseng with the acquiescence of Wu Pei-fu. Favorable letters and telegrams have been received at Wu's headquarters at Hankow from several provinces. Wu is also reported to have representatives in various provinces in an attempt to weld together all recalcitrant provinces.

KILL ALL, SPARE NONE,' ORDER OF PEKING PREMIER

Extermination Of South Is Plan Divulged In Copy Of Captured Wire

(Canton Information Bureau)

Canton, September 10.—It was the boast of Attila that grass never grew again where once his horse's hoof had trod. If the Peking premier, Chin Yun-peng, were to have his way no Southerner would live again where once his brother's Northern hordes had warred in the South.

The following is a telegram which the Tuchun of Hunan has felt compelled to communicate to the nation from his seat of government at Changsha. The original has appeared in the vernacular press in most parts of China not under the subjection of the Super-Tuchunate:

TEXT OF TELEGRAM

"On the capture of Tingshih-chiao (a town in southern Hupeh where the Peking premier's brother had his headquarters), our troops found a decoded telegram from the Peking premier, Chin Yun-peng, to his brother, Brigadier-General Chin Yun-ao. It reads:

"Your telegram received. The Southerners are like beasts and brutes. You are right to give them no quarter. 'Kill all, spare none.' Meet deceit with deceit. Fence with them. Put every chance to profit.

"Do not heed their talk of peace. We must kill them before the work is done. If they again make overtures, bid them go to Inspector-General Wu Pei-fu. You are also to act as he directs and submit your views for his approval. I have already sent you 12 machine-guns. I am also hurrying on with the ammunition. My attention has been drawn to the wounded officers and men. They will be compenated. Be sure not to use up your men too much; save their strength, also your ammunition. Do not fight recklessly. Be cautious and prudent. We know not when fighting will cease. Therefore, conserve your fighting power. Your brother, Yun-peng. Noon, 13th (13th August). Seal."

A RIGHTEOUS CAUSE

Chao Heng-ti, the Tuchun of Hunan and a sworn brother of Wu Pei-fu, who is believed to be still loyal to the latter, adds: "In the present campaign, Hunan troops are doing no more than assisting the self-government movement in the neighboring province of Hunan: it is a righteous cause. Yet the Peking premier dares to be so heartless and ruthless. It behoves the nation to call him to strictest account."

Estimated Costs Of Sewers Given

Estimates given of the cost of the sewer system that is being built in the International Settlement are published in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette. The total cost of the project, according to the figures given, will be Tls. 3,750,000, exclusive of land and Tls. 3,870,000, including land.

Expenditures to July 31 amounted to Tls. 80,000 and the estimated expenditures for the whole year are Tls. 206,000. The estimates for the next three years are as follows: 1922, Tls. 552,000; 1923, Tls. 457,000 plus Tls. 60,000 for land; and subsequent to 1923, Tls. 2,450,000 and Tls. 60,000 for land.

HIGH WATER HERE LAST MONTH NOT UP TO 1905 RECORD

Although the typhoon, which passed south of Shanghai on the night of Saturday, August 20, did not cause a great deal of damage in the Settlement, the effect of the high winds on the roadside trees and the heavy rains on the road surfaces entailed a heavy expenditure to the Public Works Department in carrying out reinstatement works, according to the August report of the Deputy Commissioner, published in the Municipal Gazette today.

The most noticeable feature was, perhaps, the very high level to which the water reached, all of the low-lying roads and land being flooded.

The level reached, however, was about one foot lower than that during the typhoon of September 1905, the levels in the vicinity of the Public Gardens reading respectively 17.03 feet and 16 feet for 1905 and 1920 above the Woosung Horizontal Zero.

On account of the strain that was being put on to the Canton Road pontoon due to the connection with the bridge becoming jammed, it was decided to sink the pontoon, the subsequent work of raising it being an easy matter.

About 1,500 roadside trees were blown down. No damage was done to Municipal Buildings.

ENGLAND NEEDS NEW GALAHAD TO PREVENT PLAGUE

BY ALFRED E. MOORE
Founder Incorporated Vermin Repression Society

(Mr. Moore read a paper on rat repression at the Royal Sanitary Institute Congress at Folkestone. Plague is reported to be spreading in Southeast Russia.)

London, July 30.—I suppose the public would be shocked if I asserted that an urgent need of today is twenty deaths from bubonic plague, to be distributed in all parts of England!

I can just imagine readers rubbing their eyes and staring aghast at such a cold-blooded suggestion; yet, since we have been taught to think imperially, not parochially, such a calamity, viewed from the standpoint of "largeness of outlook," might almost be a blessing in disguise.

Let us for a moment consider what would happen if we were faced with twenty deaths from plague. We know from history that plague among whites always causes panic. Apathy is shed as if by magic, and people shiver apprehensively if even a suggestion of a sore makes itself felt. In other words, at the hint of plague people begin to "sit up and take notice."

But panic is not the only consequence of an outbreak of plague. Man, the practical animal, suddenly discovers that he must be up and doing. What does he do? He recalls the fact that his enemy is the rat; the animal that man's women-folk instinctively hate and avoid; and then there is quickly organised a rat pogrom.

Every one vies with his neighbor in doing his utmost. Every hole and corner, every burrow and drain, every possible rat harborage is scrutinised for traces of the enemy, and woe betide the obstructor—rats must be exterminated, they must be massacred ruthlessly.

England today wants a Galahad to destroy its rats, more urgently than ever Ireland, with its snakes, wanted St. Patrick. We today in this England of ours are ignorantly doing all we can to encourage plague.

We have a teeming, imponderable underground population, whose overwhelming waves are so dangerous to the health and well-being of man that if only their real character were but faintly appreciated the public would never rest until England pioneered an international anti-rat movement of a drastic kind.

We, as a people, are not easily enthused, but we are tenacious once we are doing the right thing, and today all kinds of people are banding themselves under the Incorporated Vermin Repression Society's banner, determined that as far as they are concerned they will not go on subscribing to a national waste of over $350,000,000 per annum; nor will they look with disregard to the possibility of business being stagnated by an outbreak of plague and the loss of their friends and members of their staffs by reason of rat-carried disease. They recognise that we cannot afford the rat and his numerous families.

A NEW GIANT MONOPLANE

French Firm to Build Big Machine of That Type for Passengers

New York, July 31.—Raymond Saulnier, chief engineer of the Morane-Saulnier Airplane Company, has announced the plan of that French organisation to place on the market a three-engined monoplane with a carrying capacity of 15,000 pounds, including the weight of the machine. The French airplane makers have followed the example of a German company in producing a large monoplane, for recent experiments in Germany with a four-engined monoplane, called the Staaken-Zeppelin, have proved satisfactory.

Until recently, the monoplane as a passenger carrier on a large scale has not been seriously considered although several unsuccessful attempts have been made. But its makers believe that this new Morane product, which will be equipped with either three 400-horse power Liberty engines or three 370-horse power Lorain-Dietrich motors, will possess sufficient power and carrying capacity for such service.

Of course many American Army aviators who trained in France will find it hard to believe that the Morane "parasol" monoplane has, since the armistice, been converted from a fast and mobile fighting airplane to a large, passenger-carrying machine. To the American airmen the name "Morane" recalls the days at the last "Piste" at Issoudun, when one fought a Nieuport with a Morane, both pilots armed with "camera guns." The Morane also brings back to many former army pilots the recollection that when they had finished with many hours of manipulating it through the fighting tactics, vertical banks and "vrilles," they then mounted a Spad and were ready to start for the front.

The new Morane airplane that Chief Engineer Saulnier intends to introduce is an entirely different creature from the "parasol," for it has a wing span of ninety-three feet, a height of ten feet five inches, and a length of fifty-six feet eight inches. The horse power of the motors is estimated at 3,500 units, and its ceiling, or highest possible climb, is fixed at about 15,000 feet. The wing support will consist of a thick wing cantilever monoplane. One engine will be placed at the nose of the fuselage, while the other two will be contained in nacelles on the wings.

JAVA SYSTEM IS CITED TO INDIAN SUGAR MAKERS

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, September 9.—The report of the committee appointed at the end of 1919 to investigate the growing and manufacture of sugar in India is published.

It emphasises that India produces only one ton of sugar to the acre, as compared with over four tons in Java and four and a half in Hawaii.

An enormous percentage of the sugar contents of the cane is lost through the antiquated methods of production and inefficient milling.

The committee recommends the adoption of the Java system of mechanically lifting the cane loads on to the carrier. It expresses the opinion that the present tariff, combined with ocean and railway freights, amply protects the Indian sugar industry.

The organisation of the Indian sugar industry on the Java model is regarded by the committee as essential to progress. This organisation should take the form of an Indian Sugar Board, composed at first mainly of officials, and ultimately of non-officials.

It is further recommended that an Imperial Sugar Research Institute should be established to control research in the various provinces.

The committee pays a high tribute to the assistance given by the Government of the Dutch Indies, the General Syndicate of Sugar Manufacturers in the Dutch Indies, and the Research Association of the Java sugar industry, whose courtesy and cordiality can never be forgotten, the report declares.

Hankow Market

The British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow state as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, September 7:

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET

After a slight reaction, the Silver market firmed up again and the quotations in London have advanced to 39.⅛d ready and 38.⅜d forward, increases of 1d and ⅝d respectively since our last report. India has continued a buyer. In the absence of supplies the market appears firm.

Exchange quotations remained unchanged until today, when, in sympathy with Silver, rates advanced 1d. to T.T. 3 9 ½-4 m-s Credits 4 0 ½. Business throughout the week has been quiet.

The New York-London Cross Rate after improving to 374.⅜, has fallen back to 370.¼, the closing quotation in New York on 6th instant.

Chinese Market Rates: Shanghai Taels 96.95. Local Currency Dollars 70.225. Native Interest 5% p.a.

EXPORTS

There appeared to be little demand for most produce and the market was very quiet. Tallow is firmer while Wood Oil is slightly easier but still above the parity of Home values. Sesamum Seed is quoted nominally at much higher prices than can be obtained in Europe, but if supplies could be transferred from the Interior, business in this product might still be possible. Hides are firmly held and there are no sellers.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods.—A distinctly better feeling has made its appearance in the market during the past week and clearances show a great improvement. There was some enquiry for both forward and stock goods, especially Shacks.

Yarn.—A fair business was done for quick delivery and clearances also showed considerable improvement.

Against the Gold dealers cover T.T. on London has been available at 3/10½d. for September/October and 3/10d. to January delivery.

We close uncertain, but with an easier tendency.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor of Hongkong state as follows in their weekly share report dated Hongkong, September 9:

We have had a better market during the week under review, than for some time past, with a fair amount of business doing all round.

The Shanghai market after improving considerably, closes slightly quieter. Ewos were the means of a considerable business at Tls. 24¼ cash. Orientals were done as high as Tls. 18½, and Shanghai Cottons at Tls. 157½.

Rubber continues to remain stagnant.

The following are the chief alterations since last week.

Sharp Buying Is Held Cause Of Drop In Francs

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 13.—Sharp fluctuations in foreign exchanges were the feature of yesterday's dealings on the Paris bourse, the values of sterling and dollar rising strongly against the franc.

According to opinion in financial circles, the movement is simply the consequence of the situation arising from stocks being almost exhausted.

Manufacturers, in view of the trade revival, are now hastening to cover their needs abroad.

French Monopoly Duties Show Gain

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 13.—The proceeds of excises duties and monopolies for the month of August last exceeded those of August 1920 by over £5,500,000 at par.

Singapore Rubber Market Improves

Messrs. Fraser and Co., Singapore, reports as follows:—The market has resumed in extremely dull conditions. Rubbers have been practically untouched and transactions in local tins have been on a small scale only and movements in prices of little importance, the chief feature being a renewed demand for Nawng Pets on the announcement that work will be started in the course of a few weeks. Industrials are quiet with a moderate business passing in the leaders which have been steady until the close when they have declined slightly.

The Passing Of The Triumvirate

THERE are evidences that the domination of the country by a triumvirate of military chieftains, the form of authority which has been in vogue for the last year, is passing. The Anfu government, which was brought to its knees by Wu Pei-fu and given the knock-out blow by Chang Tso-lin in July of last year, was a government from the capital. The Clique had its henchmen in various provinces but its headquarters was in Peking.

The fall of the Anfu Clique and the general recognition that the supreme sanctions rested in Chang Tso-lin, Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu marked the beginning of the era of decentralisation, which is now well under way, with Peking meaning less and less to the governmentation of the nation at large.

Since the showdown of last summer Peking has been merely the concrete expression of the perpetual conflict and compromise between the real rulers, the military triumvirate. This was at first composed of Chang, Tsao and Wu. Later Wu Pei-fu dropped into the background, and Li Hsun of Nanking became the third party. After Li's death by alleged suicide his place was given to Wang Chan-yuan, the recently fallen lord of the middle Yangtze.

Wang's fall has brought Wu Pei-fu again to the fore, with more prestige than ever. The big factors are now General Wu and Chang Tso-lin of Mukden. Wu's retirement from the limelight strengthened Tsao Kun, who absorbed Wu's army and the prestige of Wu's prowess. Wu's return to the footlights makes Tsao proportionately weaker and less important.

It has been freely said since last summer that had it not been for his lieutenant Wu, Tsao would have suffered speedy elimination at the hands of Chang Tso-lin. Although devoted to Tsao with the faithfulness of a Chinese protege to his master, Wu was conscious that the weakest spot in the defensive of the Chihli-ites against the intrusion of Chang south of the Great Wall was the chief himself.

Tsao is a weak, fence-riding type. He is more interested in the accumulation of wealth than the increase of power. It is speculated that he cannot long exist between the millstones of Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin, which are grinding in most decidedly opposing directions.

Wu Pei-fu's plan to return to his Honanfu headquarters after the pacification of the Wuhan region has been interrupted by the Ichang development, but it indicates Wu's alarm at the Fengtien lord's intrusion into Tsao Kun's territory. Chang has been pouring soldiers through the Great Wall into Chihli, Shantung and Honan to replace the Chihli divisions taken to Hupeh by Wu Pei-fu, but Tsao, apparently preoccupied by the new wealth coming to him through the detention of remittances intended for the divisions which have followed Yen Hsiang-wen out to Shensi and Wu Pei-fu to Hankow, does not protest. Wu's announcement, however, is warning that he intends to carry out his policy of preventing the increase of Chang's influence on this side of the Great Wall, even if it involves his return north from Wuhan.

Tsao Kun, nominally the High Inspector General of Chihli, Shantung and Honan is actually one of the weakest of militarists. When Wu marched against the Anfus last summer Tsao turned his army over to Wu and retired to Tientsin, warning him that in event he met defeat, he (Tsao) would renounce him, and that in event he (as proved) was victorious, Tsao would take the credit. Since that time the Chihli army has considered itself Wu's rather than Tsao's army.

Chinese psychology is such that a triumvirate is much more feasible than a duumvirate. We may expect to see, with the contraction from three to two predominant chieftains, even less than the year of semi-peace which the triumvirate has given us. With always the possibility that Chang's aggressions will force Wu Pei-fu into a deal with the South, that will upset both Chang and Tsao and lead to a united country.

Apes And Aping

The Theory Of Evolution Has Much Support In Probability

(New York Journal)

The theory of evolution, that we sprang from apes, has much support in probability.

For the most striking characteristic of the ape is his ability to imitate and the pleasure imitation gives him. So the verb "to ape" means to imitate.

And certainly the most powerful motive among human beings is imitation.

At the very beginning of life we see it. A child learns by aping others.

The process of learning a rule and forming our conduct by it is one that comes only after much schooling, and the vast majority of the race does not employ it at all.

Learning a language is making sounds like those we hear others make. And this is the very best way.

In any culture one example is worth a dozen precepts.

What are good manners but doing as do our betters.

In any circle it is the sophisticated who turn up their noses at the greenhorns, and all there is to sophistication is that we have learned to act precisely like all around us.

Civilisation itself seems a perfection in apishness, a state wherein all do, say and think alike.

And what are morals but conformity?

And good society, courtliness and being a perfect gentleman or lady means that outwardly at least we have suppressed all individuality and each of us has become "the mold of fashion and the glass of form."

Speaking of fashion, do not women spend fortunes keeping in style, which, when you come to think of it, means aping their leaders. Consider the billions of leaders. Consider the billions of dollars spent by the female sex along Fifth avenue and the Rue de la Paix in the struggle for simian perfection.

And men also dress not according to any intelligent reasons whatever, nor by the fitness of things, but solely that they may be clothed like other men.

And if anyone will not conform, and appears at the opera in his shirt sleeves or comes to church without his breeches, we arrest him.

We hate the person who will not join in our aping. He is a crank or a bit cracked.

Even religion, at least orthodoxy, is similiarity of belief.

So deep is our ape inheritance that we must needs stone the wretch who will not think as we all think, and we cannot endure one who is so stubborn and unreasonable as to like what we do not like.

Success, what is it? Every successful book, newspaper, magazine, soap, fountain pen, preacher, actor or what not, is followed by a host of imitators; besides being "the thing," or the vogue or all the go and so on, what does it mean but that you have started a troop of apes to fancy you?

And in death, the one place where one ought to be allowed to do as one pleases, we are worse off than anywhere else. For then comes the Funeral, and we are wounded and shocked when we see any family that will not conform to the heathenish, stupid and dreadful custom that there holds sway.

Come from apes? Yes, indeed, and doing our best to go back.

China Begins To Realise Conference Is No Tribunal

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Correspondence)

Peking, September 13.—Chinese officialdom is becoming convinced that the Disarmament Conference in Washington can make little change in the Shantung situation. The Chinese public is probably heading for another keen disappointment, but officials are beginning to apprehend that the conference will not present the aspect of an international trial of Japan on criminal or even civil charges preferred by China and perhaps Siberia, but that it will rather be a committee on the liquidation of the foreign relations, entanglements and interests of these weaker nations, upon which Japan will sit as a member in full and equal standing. That she will be, to a greater extent than the others, an interested member, is evident, and this fact will undoubtedly contribute somewhat to her embarrassment, but that it will by no means place her in a position of defenseless acquiescence in the plans according to which Chinese idealists have dreamed that the wrongs of their nation would be repaired, is becoming equally evident to Chinese diplomats and leaders.

There will be no change in the Washington line-up from that before which China met defeat at Paris: England, France and Italy frankly pledged to support Japan, America sentimentally heart and soul with China but unable to point out any violation in the letter of Japan's pledge to return the leased territory, Japan standing firmly and facing the nations boldly upon the basis of China's repeated rejections of Japan's offers of direct negotiations for the return of Shantung. China's insistence that the return requires no negotiation has the support of common-sense, but not of diplomatic procedure. Her fears of the implications of such negotiation; Japanese diplomatic bargaining in which China always loses; the corrupting of her own negotiators (she has no public servants whom she can trust); must, for the sake of diplomatic courtesy and her own self-respect, remain untold.

KOO FAVORS IT

Aware of these conditions, Wellington Koo (Ku Wei-teh), China's most sophisticated diplomatist, has wired his Peking government strongly advocating China's immediate acceptance, before Armistice Day, of Japan's offer to negotiate. He appreciates that the conference can do far more for China by its effect upon Japan's attitude in such negotiations than by any direct discussion of the Shantung deadlock. Could such negotiations be got under way soon enough to have reached concrete form by the time of the opening of the Conference, and should Japan have evinced an aggressive or unreasonable attitude therein, China would have the best possible case to place before the Conference. It can readily be seen how much stronger would be her position if she could say: "I have met Japan, as she requested, to arrange with her the details of the fulfilment of her pledge, and the negotiations have brought out that she is trying to sidestep her promise, not fulfil it," than at present when she can only say: "I demand that Japan fulfil her pledge. I can see no reason in her request for negotiation. Further, I never have recognised that she had any rights in Tsingtao at all. Therefore it is impossible for me to negotiate with her."

Japan, realising the false position she would be placed in before the Conference, should she disclose insincerity in pre-Conference negotiations with China, would be the less likely to place unacceptable conditions upon the return of Tsingtao port and the withdrawal of her garrisons. It is, of course, recognised everywhere that she will never, under any conceivable pressure, give up the economic position she has captured in Shantung consisting, to speak concretely, of her special interests in and control of the mines, railway and port facilities. These have gone, in Shantung, as irrevocably into Japanese hands as they went in the neighboring province of Chihli, years ago, into British hands.

MAY POOL INTERESTS

There is, of course, the Utopian possibility that Japan, Great Britain and France, under the influence of America, may agree to some plan for the return with reservations, or to an international pool of the foreign concessions which impair Chinese sovereignty. But this possibility, or any other putting a different aspect upon foreign concessions is remote indeed. The China motif of the coming Conference will be that of John Hay. In conditions specifically prejudicing the Open Door, China may expect an amelioration—America is determined that the Conference shall accomplish this if it accomplishes anything. Such conditions exist in Manchuria and Fukien. But Shantung is a question of different and more complex nature. Tsingtao was originally signed away by China as reparation for injury to the dignity of a foreign power. This sort of thing cannot be gone into on any more fundamental basis than the holding power's promise to return without opening up the matter of foreign title to Hongkong, Kwangtungwan, Shanghai, Weihaiwei, Tientsin, Kiukiang and Hankow.

FEAR THE PEOPLE

The Chinese Foreign Office is undoubtedly inclined to give Japan notice of acceptance of her offer to negotiate the return of Tsingtao. The student and merchant classes who comprise the politically conscious public, still unequivocally oppose such a step. The very suggestion brings a shower of telegrams down upon Peking. Their opposition, although unreasoning from the standpoint of the diplomat, is inspired by two distinct conceptions. The first is the mistrust of such negotiations, the fear that their own Chinese negotiators might be bluffed or bought into some bargain which would irrevocably prejudice China's case, or constitute a greater injury to her sovereignty than that now existing. Bitter experience has taught them that when Japan says: "Let us meet to arrange," she means, "Let us meet to bargain." The second is the Oriental conception of "face." In the Tsingtao controversy, although China has lost the territory, Japan has lost the face. China, in playing the part of the weaker, but dignified sufferer, too proud to barter or talk with her aggressor, has kept face, and of this fact the Chinese, to whom face means almost more than substance, is intensely proud. It is safe to say that the majority of Chinese unprejudiced by political or financial interests, would today rather have, uninjured, this pride, than have Tsingtao.

RAINY RHYMES

(During the last week over six inches of rain have fallen upon this Model Settlement. No wonder some folk say Shanghai is "Wet.")

The liquid, tasteless, watery globes gleam softly on the grass;
Each cricketer and lawn bowler
feels he's a silly ass;
And though upon the colorless waste the Sun at times does shine,
We still can get so very wet when we go out to dine.

So let it rain with might and main,
and let it rain again,
If sports are cancelled we should worry! Just be bright and sane.
Get into trim, in bath and gym.,
acquire what folks call vim,
Then you may join the Interporters in Hongkong—and swim.

Just see those little starry flowers
the way they sap the dew,
They lift their heads from downy
beds and enter life anew,
Remind us that we all can praise good Mister Wellington Koo.
And thank the Lord we haven't got to think of Little Tsu.

So let it rain six inches more—it means there'll be no band—
And let the Race Course look to us like sea, or fairyland;
It means if tennis we can't play,
the Rees at least we'll please,
For then there'll be no quarrelling and all will be at ease.
—With apologies to W.L.R.

TERMINATIONS

(Everything tends to get shorter. The only thing that has no termination is the increase in rents. Shanghai is nowaday written "S'hai.")

A roguish scamp got just scads of francs
By swindling several homeside banks,
His home was at a Town in Glos.,
Whose banks all suffered, and the loss
Was not made up, for he had spent
The lot. He went to banishment.
And thought he wouldn't have to pay
Should he exploit the U.S.A.

Traveling thither, second class,
He found himself at Boston, Mass.,
But that proud center scorned his skill,
So he essayed Chicago, Ill.,
Whose citizens on business bent,
Thought him a useless ornament.
He turned to Hoboken, N.J.
In vain; his notions failed to pay.

Nashville and Memphis, both in Tenn.,
Guessed they had seen much better men—
No flies on his financial web
Alighted there. To Lincoln, Neb.,
He flitted, feeling quite de trop;
He visited St. Louis, Mo.;
At Oshkosh, Wis., and Guthrie,
Ok.,
He suffered yet another shock.

* * *

To Houston, Tex., Topeka, Kan.,
And Duluth, Minn., sped this poor man;
San Jose, Cal., Tacoma, Wash.,
Considered his ideas as bosh;
At Philadelphia, Pa., he called,
To find his blandishments forestalled.
He had one final, farewell try
For luck at Providence, R.I.

Then off to 'Frisco he made speed—
The next boat this way met his need.
Each place he went he'd told the tale;
Each time his cash appeal would fail;
Maskee, how truthful was the lie,
He couldn't find the lending guy.
At last he landed here—and why?
His chits were taken in S'hai., Chi.

China Year Book 1921-1922

The China Year Book, 1921-1922 volume, edited by H. G. W. Woodhead, editor of the Peking-Tientsin Times, and published by the Tientsin Press, Ltd., replete with general information and remarkable in its detail, is an indispensable volume for the Far Eastern library and a valuable asset to the Westerner at home.

More ambitious than ever before and printed in China by Chinese under foreigners who understand what is needed in such a reference work of this sort, the China Year Book is indeed an unusual volume.

Aggregating all sorts of valuable information about China it includes chapters on the geography, area and population of the country, geology, fauna, flora and forestry, climate, the people and language, products, mines and minerals, commerce (in which is given details of China's treaties, ports, settlements, etc.) finance, currency, public justice, communications, the army and navy, education, manufactures, conservancy and harbor works, religions, government and several others.

One chapter is devoted to China's war and post-war problems, this including details of the negotiations between China and Japan on Shantung, the Twenty-One demands and the Peace Treaty. Many phases of recent Chinese political history are outlined and the judgment of the editor in including so many documents cannot be questioned.

The enterprise of the editor in including 1920 trade statistics is also to be commended.

The China Year Book should be on the desk of every business man, in the home of every resident in China, is a necessity for libraries throughout the world and an asset to the merchant or investigator in America or Europe, who is interested in China or the Far East.

JAPANESE FINDS DESERT AFTER 3 YEARS OF RULE

Prosperity Lacking Utterly In Districts Where The Nipponese Hold Sway

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 6.—"Contrary to my first expectation, I was surprised to find Nikolaievsk as desolate today as at the time of the massacre some years ago," remarked Baron Yabuki, member of the House of Peers, interviewed by a press representative on his recent tour of inspection of Saghalien.

"It was really a flying trip that I made, accompanied by Baron Shiba and Baron Iwakura, through the Northern parts of Saghalien and Nikolaievsk," he said.

"We expected to find the town tolerably flourishing, but, upon landing at the port, the first impression was one of desolation. The Japanese garrison is expected to winter there this year, and for this purpose all the necessary preparations are now complete.

"One of the most promising natural resources in Dekastri is the dense forests. The imperfect system of communication and transports is a great handicap on the utilisation of that particular natural resource, but this defect is more than sufficiently made up by mineral produce, in which the locality abounds. As the district is only free from snow and frost for a few months in the year, there is no hope for agricultural enterprise.

"Oil is not so plentiful as experts first imagined. Already more than two million yen have been invested for the experimental development of oil-fields, but so far with no very reassuring effect. The coal deposits are quite limited but the quality is good.

"One of the serious difficulties that menace the residents in Nikolaievsk and Dekastri is the inadequacy of provisions. The complete absence of vegetables is an intolerable experience to the foreign residents, who are, in consquence, apt to contract scurvy, from which only the natives are immune."

INDIA IS READY TO PULL UP THE POPPY BY ROOTS

Mahatma Ghandi As Yet Fails To Take Definite Steps Against This Narcotic

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 13.—The Secretary of the Anti-opium Association in Peking has received the following information from Mr. F. C. Andrews of Bolpur, India, who leads the anti-opium movement in that country: Mr. Andrews points out that the Legislative Council in Assam has recently taken such steps that the sale of opium will be entirely prohibited within a few years.

As Assam had the reputation of being worse in respect of the opium traffic than any other province in India, this is considered a great triumph, and it may have a beneficial effect in advancing the cause of prohibition throughout the country.

The Mahatma Gandhi has made the abolition of all intoxicants a religious question and favors the abolition of opium, but has taken no very definite steps so far beyond opening his paper Young India for articles advocating the prohibition of narcotics.

Reformers are now engaged, with the aid of the Government, in getting introduced a "Dangerous Drugs Bill" in agreement with the act for the United Kingdom to be passed through the Indian Legislative chambers and in view of that Mr. Andrews is arranging for questions to be asked at the September sessions.

The majority of missionaries are reported to be apathetic with regard to this question, while the British resident community is, on the whole, hostile regarding the opium traffic as legitimate commerce.

The Indian Government has shown no change from the position taken by Sir William Meyer in 1914, who at the time did not admit any wickedness in sending opium to China and thought the fault rested with the efficiency of the Government, that did not know how to realise a maximum of revenue from a minimum of consumption, and considered that the opium traffic under high taxation aided the cause of temperance, since the people would obtain more opium if it entered China by illicit methods rather than by a legalised trade.

Ito, New First Secretary, Arrives

Mr. I. Ito, the new First Secretary of the Japanese Legation, who is replacing Mr. I. M. Tokugawa, who has been recalled to Japan, has arrived in Peking accompanied by his wife, and will take up his new duties immediately. It is not known as yet the exact date of the departure of Mr. Tokugawa, or his new destination.

Mr. Ito has had a long career in the diplomatic service of Japan, most of his time having been spent on the continent of Europe.

The new First Secretary has acquired reputation in Japan, through his writings for various publications in that country; his especial interest has been in international problems, and the question of world peace has been his particular interest. He is accompanied by his wife who is French by birth.

MRS. F. W. HILL DIES FROM LONG ILNESS

Murder Of Son In July Hastens Death Of Yokohama Resident; Lived In Shanghai

Mrs. Margaret Duncan Hill, wife of Mr. Frederick William Hill, died at 107 Bluff, Yokohama, at 4.30 o'clock on the morning of September 8. Mrs. Hill was the mother of Mr. Ronald Hill, who was killed by a burglar at the Hill residence in Yokohama July 5. Though she had been in poor health for more than six years, it is thought by her immediate relatives and friends that the violent death of her only son hastened her own death.

Her condition was almost critical at the time of her own encounter with the burglar, who stabbed her son to death. Since then she has been in such a condition that her death was not entirely unexpected. She became unconscious at midnight Wednesday and was in a state of coma until death quietly came at 4.30 o'clock. One of her two daughters, Mrs. W. E. Atwell, had been caring for Mrs. Hill for five or six weeks and was with her at death.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Eustace Strong, chaplain, at Christ Church. Saturday morning Sept. 10, Burial was beside the body of her son in the Yokohama Foreign Cemetery.

Mrs. Hill came to Japan from London in the summer of 1890 and was married at the old Christ Church in the Settlement at Yokohama July 5 of that year. The couple lived in Kobe from 1891 to 1900 and in Yokohama during the rest of their residence in the Far East with the exception of two years, 1909 to 1911, spent in Shanghai Mrs. Hill was 55 years old.

Mrs. Hill is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. R. Rice of Kobe and Mrs. W. E. Atwell of Yokohama but temporarily resident in Kobe. Mrs. Atwell had been in Yokohama several weeks before the death of her mother.
